Arts & Education In Concert (AEIC) works with our youth to stop drug abuse and violence. But the core of our program is very different. Fundamentally, we ask the students to create a program that will work for them. The result has been Project X.

AEIC's Project X (the open mic program), began with the great expectation that students would enjoy the opportunity to express themselves through the creative arts. The arts as an alternative to drug abuse, is also a great vehicle for influencing others to seek out their own creativity and choose to lead healthy, and happy vibrant lives – free from drug abuse and violence.

We have encountered many talented students – musicians, poets, artists and even comedians – at the high school open mic sessions. Last year's CD of these talented performers was a great success.

This CD showcases the music of Lauri Greene, a junior at South Lakes High School. We are proud to have Lauri represent the mission of AEIC. Our hope is that listening to this CD will influence you as positively as it has us.

Ladies and Gentleman . . . . Ms. Lauri Greene

This story, as many often do, begins with an angsty teen with no outlet.

Everywhere I go people are doing drugs. I'm not really into that. I wanna go to college, get a good job, a good husband, that whole trip. As some of my friends like to go out and smoke-up on the weekend, I kinda feel left out, not really pressured though. Adults always think that we push drugs on each other - verbally, and that everybody does it. It's really more that we don't want to be left behind on a Saturday night. Well I would just like to say that not all teenagers are drug-crazed and drunken. In fact, lots of kids like me, they just wanna get to the next level. We spend our time doing our own thing, working, music, movies, etc. Drug use comes from boredom. Kids need something they can focus on. Well, I found lots of outlets for myself: school, singing, guitar, and just whatever. This CD features the fruits of my labor and my love and labor and love of others.

My thanks for this CD go to:
Jeff Kaye and everyone at AEIC for giving me the opportunity to share my music and for supporting me in my creative ventures. Ryan for being my muse for many of my songs. My parents for everything they have given me throughout my life. All the members of Project X and all my friends for all their support as I was writing these songs. And everyone else who has taught me, supported me, and contributed to the production of this CD.
